FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

DECISIONONE ACQUIRES ANACOMP MVS

Strengthens Leadership in Data Center Support and Enhances Customer Value

DEVON, PA and SAN DIEGO, CA (December 21, 2009) - Technology support leader DecisionOne today announced the closing of their acquisition of the MVS division of Anacomp — a privately held diversified IT and business services company headquartered in San Diego, California. The transaction is consistent with DecisionOne's strategy of acquiring business in its core areas of operation to enhance the company's ability to provide superior, low-cost IT support services. Terms of the agreement were not disclosed.

The acquired division of Anacomp provides authorized technical support and maintenance on behalf of Original Equipment Manufacturer (OEM) customers and direct to end-user customers across North America; operates principally in data center environments, and markets its services principally through business partnerships — complementary to DecisionOne's business model. Joining DecisionOne are approximately 200 Anacomp employees, including a geographically distributed team of field technicians and staff from all functional areas of the company. The acquisition also brings with it approximately 750 Anacomp customers. From a skills perspective, Anacomp brings expertise in supporting data center output, storage and network devices — key areas that DecisionOne has targeted for growth in 2010 and beyond. In addition, the business combination will add more than 10 percent growth to DecisionOne's top line, and enhances the company's organic growth prospects through key Anacomp account relationships.

"This acquisition brings together professionals from two companies that share the common vision of providing superior, low-cost IT support services that deliver tremendous business value for our customers," according to Neal Bibeau, President and Chief Executive Officer, DecisionOne Corporation. "The combination reinforces DecisionOne's already strong capabilities in output devices and significantly enhances the company's capabilities in data center storage and converged communications equipment, while strengthening our overall leadership position in IT infrastructure support."

DecisionOne has a comprehensive North American field service organization, ISO: 9001:2000-certified depot and repair operations, and onshore technical help desk capabilities that complement the delivery capabilities of Anacomp and allow the combined organization to continue to "raise the bar" on service delivery in support of their clients and end-user organizations. In addition, DecisionOne supports and maintains more than 745 manufacturers' products, of which 130 are focused on high availability environments.

DECISIONONE ACQUIRES ANACOMP MVS

"Our decision to divest Anacomp's MVS division was a result of our strategy to increase focus on the company's core business of providing eDiscovery, Litigation Support and Information Management Services and Solutions to Government, Corporate and Law Firm customers." stated Howard Dratler, Chief Executive Officer, Anacomp. "We sought a strategic buyer to purchase the MVS division and found an ideal candidate in DecisionOne — a profitable, growing company with a strong pedigree in field service and a company that will continue to be dedicated to growing and advancing the MVS hardware services and support business."
